

WEB APPLICATIONS DEVELOPMENT

COMP30680

I declare that this submission is my own work. Where I have read, consulted, and used the work of others I have acknowledged within HTML/CSS files.

Elena Lanigan
17205702

Pyladies

Pyladies is based on Django Girls which is an organisation who promotes and encourages women to code. They have built a community of coders and set up hundreds of coding events around the world

All text content is taken from Pyladies.com and Djangogirls.com for the purpose of recreating a website for my Web Applications Development project. All images used on the site stored in Images folder have been taken from Pexels.com or Flaticon.com.

The HTML5 and CSS3 used throughout this project have been collected from various sources including David Coyle's lecture slides and practical's for Web App Development, W3School & HTMLdog.

index.html

- Navigation bar made using a list.
- Nav bar Links to internal pages used throughout.
- Footer links to external pages used throughout.
- Use of HTML5 semantic/structural elements throughout.

about.html

- Gallery page created using HTML block and inline elements.
- CSS3 elements include rounded corner, object fit , page responsiveness and transitions.

events.html

- Embedded Vimeo video sourced from Django Girls.
- CSS3 elements include rounded corner and button styling.

organise.html

- Contains unordered list.
- HTML block and inline elements used throughout.

members.html

- Contains table.
- Contains Create Account form.
- CSS3 elements include rounded corner and button styling.
- HTML block and inline elements used throughout.

checkemail.html

- Page used to show how form works. Could be replaced by PHP file.